Repository:	Wilson Special Collections Library
Creator:	Friar, Jerome.
Title:	Jerome Friar Photographic Collection and Related Materials, 1978-2010
ID:	P0090
ID [aspace_uri]:	/repositories/2/resources/7644
Date [inclusive]:	1978-2010
Physical Description:	50,000 items 50 linear feet
Language of the Material:	Materials in English
Abstract:	Jerome Friar was born in South Carolina and moved to Rocky Mount, N.C., as a child. After relocating to Durham, N.C., in the mid-1970s, Friar took his first step towards what would eventually become a career in free-lance photojournalism with his coverage of a mass meeting of neo-Nazis in western North Carolina in 1980. The images he took at this event were among his first professional works to be published (and remain among some of his most requested images). Shortly after this event, Friar took his camera down to Nicaragua to cover the situation that was unfolding as the Contra War began in the early 1980s. After covering events in Nicaragua, Friar moved to Washington, D.C., so that he could cover events related to socio-economic issues that were being debated at that time. He remained a free-lance photographer, and his works were regularly used in a variety of publications. In 2008, Friar returned to North Carolina, and he currently lives on Topsail Island. He continues to take photographs of people, places, and events on the North Carolina coast and other locations around the state.
Abstract:	The Jerome Friar Photographic Collection and Related Materials contains over 50,000 images created by Jerome Friar, 1978-2010. Included are images that cover broad areas of North Carolina, including Durham, Franklinton, Ocracoke Island, Portsmouth, Roxboro, Topsail Island, Warrenton, and Yadkinville, and topics relating to activities in the state. In addition to materials related to North Carolina are images related to Washington, D.C., where Friar lived for nearly 20 years. These materials primarily focus on issues related to economic injustice, poverty, gun violence, homelessness, civil rights, gay rights, environmental racism, neo-Nazi and Ku-Klux Klan activity, pollution and the environment, and Central American issues. Included are photographs of individuals involved in those issues. During his time in Washington, D.C., Friar paid particular attention to events related to North Carolina. Also included are images taken by Friar in other parts of the United States as well as his images from Nicaragua during the Contra War. The series containing these two subjects (3-4) have not been fully processed and are not currently available to researchers. For information about access the materials in these two series, contact Research and Instructional Services staff [wilsonlibrary@unc.edu].
